

WLAN access will be improved Fri Aug 24 2007

In the past, WiFi/WLAN Access has been cumbersome and error-prone.

This service will be improved on Friday August 24, 2007, ready before o-week:

- Connecting to the wireless network will no longer require a "secret" key.
- According to our university's new name the wireless network will be called "JACOBS".
- It will advertise itself: no more "searching for wireless networks".
- To enhance stability and manageability, WiFi/WLAN Access will require login of Jacobs University's members with CampusNet username /password, either
 - via web browser (easier to use), or
 - via VPN access (more secure).
- Guests and conference attendants can get WiFi/WLAN Access with temporary accounts provided by their hosts, via IT Support.

Using a web browser without login to the network will automatically show a login page.

The legacy "IUB-Bremen" network will cease to exist on that day.
