

How to change the Windows domain password from the command line

You can NOT change your Windows domain password from the Windows command line of your computer.

You need to use the CampusNet web application to change your domain password. See CampusWeb settings for details.

For an overview of domains and notation see How to login with the JACOBS domain account.