

Email issues November 04, 2010

On November 04, 2010, ~between 11am and 11:30am the connection between internal email systems were interrupted.

During that time, incoming external emails might have been rejected with a message to the sender, and some internal clients could not connect to the server to send emails.